India–USA Trade Relations (2025)

- Historical Background:

Trade relations between India and the US began strengthening significantly after the 2005 Civil Nuclear Agreement. Since then, both countries have increased cooperation in technology, pharmaceuticals, services, and energy sectors.

- Current Trade Status:

As of 2025, the US is India's largest trading partner. Total bilateral trade has crossed $200 billion, with significant exports from India in IT services, pharmaceuticals, and textiles. The US exports defense hardware, crude oil, and tech components to India.

- Recent Developments:

- De-escalation of past tariff tensions (e.g. steel, agricultural goods)
- Signing of a semiconductor and AI partnership
- Increased collaboration in clean energy tech and climate-linked industries

- Strategic Outlook:

There are ongoing talks around a Free Trade Agreement (FTA), which could boost ease of doing business. Focus areas include digital trade, data protection, and supply chain diversification to counter dependency on China.

India–Israel Space & Defence Relations (2025)

- Historical Ties:

Since the establishment of full diplomatic relations in 1992, India and Israel have steadily built a strong defense and security partnership. Israel has been one of the top three defense suppliers to India.

- Current Cooperation Areas:

- Missile Development: Joint production of Barak-8 and other air defense systems

- Cybersecurity: Strategic partnership in cyber defense tools and digital surveillance
- Space Programs: Collaboration between ISRO and Israel Space Agency on satellite tech
- Recent Highlights:
  - India has launched Israeli satellites via PSLV missions
  - Shared training programs in counter-terrorism
  - AI-based military equipment, drone swarms and battlefield systems being co-developed
- Future Vision:

The nations are expected to deepen ties in space security, military AI, and agricultural innovation using satellite data, strengthening India's defense-tech ecosystem and innovation pipelines.
